The Employment Standard builds upon the duty to accommodate and meet the needs of employees of all abilities as required in the Ontario Human Rights Code. The City will consult with employees when arranging for the provision of suitable accommodation in a manner that considers the accessibility needs due to disability. The City will consult with the person making the request in determining the suitability of an accessible format, communication or other supports specifically for:

- Physical modifications to the workplace;

- Information that is generally available to employees in the workplace

The City will post information about the availability of accommodations for internal and external job applicants with disabilities in its recruitment process.

Performance Management, and Career Development

The City provides employees with disabilities or individual accommodation plans equitable access to career development, performance management and learning opportunities.

Employees requiring an accommodation to participate in any of these programs are required to inform their people leaders and the respective HR Business Partner in order for a customized Accommodation Plan to be created.

Individual Accommodation Plans

City Policy describes the mandatory process for the development and maintenance of documented individual accommodation plans to support employees with disabilities, upon request. If applicable, individual accommodation plans are customized based on employee need, and may include information regarding plans for accessible formats and communication supports, as well as individualized workplace emergency response information.

Additional information can be found in the City's Workplace Accommodation Policy.

Workstation Assessments

Workstation Assessments are a shared responsibility between Human Resources and Interior Design Services. The Office Workstation Set up and Services service card provides an overview of resources and services available to assist employees in setting up their workstation, including self-learning resources, workstation set up and general evaluation.

Employees are responsible for informing their people leader if there are any concerns related to workplace accommodation due to a disability or return-to-work. These concerns should be taken by the people leader to the Human Resources Employee Relations Team.

Specialized ergonomic equipment, including sit-stand workstations, may be considered during workplace accommodation due to disability.

Return to Work

The City has a Workplace Accommodation Policy which requires individual accommodation plans for employees be developed for employees the have been absent from work due to a disability and require disability-related accommodations in order to return to work.

The City has an informal Return to Work process for employees returning to work following an illness or injury where disability-related accommodations are required. This requirement is met through return-to-work processes supported by Occupational Health and Safety staff consistent with the collective agreements and return to work protocols.

Redeployment

Redeployments are a rare occurrence at the City of Brampton. In situations where redeployment occurs, employees are invited to complete the skills matrix. When invited to be considered for redeployment, employees are encouraged to follow the guidelines identified above under Recruitment and Selection.

Workplace Emergency Response Information

Each City facility has its own facility management/ Fire Safety Plan as required. Each department is responsible for ensuring that emergency protocols for staff that need accommodations are reflected in these safety plans.

The City of Brampton develops individualized workplace emergency response information for employees that have a disability. On a bi-annual basis, the Accessibility Team will email all City staff a reminder to self-identify if a personalized emergency response plan is required.

When an employee raises a requirement, they must then complete the Emergency Information Self-Assessment Form. That form is to be provided by email, or hardcopy to their people leader.

The people leader is then responsible to work with the employee to complete the Personalized Emergency Response Plan, and obtain consent to share the information with individuals that would play a role in the emergency including Security; Human Resources; Facilities; Health and Safety; and any colleagues as necessary.

Accessibility – Employment Matters

Additional details of the Workplace Emergency Response program are available on the Accessibility Service Card.

Training

All existing and new employees including volunteers and others who provide goods or services on behalf of the City will receive training on the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities (AODA) and Integrated Accessibility Standards Regulations (IASR). A record of training, including dates and the number of people trained must be kept.
