Aug-21	Online Form	Name a New City Street;Name a New City Park ;Rename an Existing City Park;	Scott Thompson. Note, as there is a Scott Street in Brampton, and Thompson Street in Mississauga, this name would need to be used as a complete unit.	Anywhere, if new.  If renaming a city park, I would suggest Bach Park or Roehampton Park. Both are within walking distance of Brampton Centennial Secondary School, which Thompson attended, and both are named for nearby streets. Neither of streets that provided the source of the park name has any greater significance to Brampton. Roehampton is likely named for the district of southwest London, or its university. Bach is one of five streets in a neighbourhood named for classical music composers. Johannes Bach died 103 years before Brampton was incorporated as a village.	Don't Know;	Under Review

Aug-21	Online Form	Name a New City Street;Name a New City Park ;	Boswell Street or Mark Boswell Park. The name "Boswell" was refused when proposed in Mississauga, in 1986, on the grounds of spelling. Lorenvile, Lavallee, and Elbern Markell are all names used for streets, so the expectation of people's ability to spell has loosened in the last 35 years. It's time that the name Boswell be revisited.	Anywhere.	Don't Know;	Under Review

Sep-20	Online Form	Name a New City Street;Name a New City Park ;Name a New City Facility;Rename an Existing City Facility;	Irvine __ Emily Irvine __ Dr. Emily Irvine __ Doctor Emily Irvine __	Ultimately any asset at all would be great. If there was a development application with land zoned for a medical centre, that would be neat. But whether zoning is that specific that early in an m-plan, I'm not sure. There seems to also be a municipal park at Bovaird Drive and Heritage Road, near the Trailhead Ecopark and possible hospital and hospice locations. Does it have a tentative name?
