Aug-21	Online Form	Name a New City Street;Name a New City Park ;Rename an Existing City Park;	Scott Thompson.	Anywhere, if new. Note, as there is a Scott Street in Brampton, and Thompson Street in Mississauga, this name would need to be used as a complete unit. If renaming a city park, I would suggest Bach Park or Roehampton Park. Both are within walking distance of Brampton Centennial Secondary School, which Thompson attended, and both are named for nearby streets. Neither of streets that provided the source of the park name has any greater significance to Brampton. Roehampton is likely named for the district of southwest London, or its university. Bach is one of five streets in a neighbourhood named for classical music composers. Johannes Bach died 103 years before Brampton was incorporated as a village.	Anywhere	Under Review
