SHORT STATEMENT OF THE REASON FOR THE DESIGNATION OF 19 WELLINGTON STREET EAST:

The house at 19 Wellington Street East is located on the south side of Wellington Street East, east of Main Street and west of Chapel Street. The property is located within the downtown core of Brampton and just outside of the proposed Main Street South Heritage Conservation District. It is in Secondary Plan 7 which emphasizes the importance of heritage building retention. The importance of conserving heritage resources on their original sites is stated in this Plan. It is a unique and historical area based on the lot pattern, the presence of historical dwellings and an existing mature tree canopy.

SHORT STATEMENT OF THE REASON FOR THE DESIGNATION

The property at 19 Wellington Street East is worthy of designation under Part IV of the Ontario Heritage Act for its cultural heritage value or interest. The property meets the criteria for designation prescribed by the Province of Ontario under Ontario Heritage Act, Regulation 9/06 for the categories of design/physical value, historical/associative value, and contextual value. The house at 19 Wellington Street East is located on the south side of Wellington Street East, directly west of Chapel Street. The two-storey Vernacular Queen Anne style house was built around 1887. It has historical/associative value related to John Elliott and the original Brampton Fairgrounds. Contextually, it defines, maintains, and supports the historic character of the Wellington Street East and Chapel Street streetscape.

DESIGN/PHYSICAL VALUE:

The cultural heritage value or interest related to Design/Physical Characteristics for this property is shown through its Vernacular Queen Anne Revival style. 19 Wellington Street East is a two-storey, red brick, single family dwelling with an early addition added to the rear of the property. Queen Anne Revival was popular during the end of the 19th century and generally focused on steeply pitched and irregular rooflines, asymmetrical facades, front-facing gables, wraparound verandas, and overhanging eaves. They were often quite detailed.

19 Wellington Street East has two prominent asymmetrical facades; one facing Chapel Street and one facing Wellington Street East. A unique circular corner verandah with extended porch faces the intersection. Simple doric columns with wooden spindles line the verandah. There are two projecting gables, both in a two-storey bay window configuration. Within the eaves, the projecting gables become flat faced with three decorative vergeboards; a sunburst in the top peak and two floral designs in on the sides. Each window has the same splayed brick lintel, common for its time.

The property at 19 Wellington Street East has been well maintained over its 135 year life. A rear/side addition was completed quite early after original construction as it is in the same style and the brick has aged the same. There is evidence of the removal of an additional verandah on this addition as the brick is of a slightly lighter shade and one can see where it was attached to the building. The surrounding landscaping emphasizes the architecture of the building.

The design of the house is similar to that of 17 Chapel Street, also a corner house.

HISTORICAL/ASSOCIATIVE VALUE:

Built in 1887, this area was originally owned by John Elliott and later was utilized as a fairground. Cattle dealer, George Armstrong and Auctioneer, John Smith purchased the land and had it subdivided into lots by Joseph A. Carbert. It became a registered plan in 1884. Lot 1, Block 4, BR-36 was sold to Samuel Robert Alexander for $337.00 in January 1887. The house was built in the same year and then sold to Hannah Alexander (widow) for $1000.00. The Alexander's rented the property to Reverend Alexander Langford for many years in the 1890s.

In 1901 the property was sold to William J. Fenton. In 1905 it was sold again to James W. Ward, who then sold it to Alice Ward in 1909. Dr. John A. Lawson purchased the property in 1911. He had a well established medical practice in Brampton for many years. Martha J. Lawson sold the property to Helen and Harry Brown in 1966, who then sold it to Donald Bell in 1986.

The house changed hands multiple times. It is thought to be built by Samuel Robert Alexander as he was a carpenter, but there is little evidence to prove this. The house does stand prominently on a corner in part of the old fairgrounds, which were originally owned by John Elliott, one of the founders of the Village of Brampton.

CONTEXTUAL VALUE:

The property has contextual value as it defines, maintains and supports the historic character of the Wellington Street East and Chapel Street streetscape. The house is also prominently located behind the Peel Art Gallery, Museum and Archives Complex. This neighbourhood contains many nineteenth and early twentieth century single-detached residences that characterize the neighbourhood. Multiple architectural styles can be found in this neighbourhood.
